WHAT DO YOU THINK OF GLORIA?

About 447 years ago, in Canaan, Reuben went to the wheat fields and gathered mandrakes for his mother, Leah.

There is the same virtue in Gloria now as then, giving vitality and strength.

Gloria is composed of pure, fine, soft, and airy down, a run-down, soft, faged dispersive with a little dispersion, has been cured and made angelic with the vitality of a boy. Don't believe this till you try Gloria and find it to be true in your case. Motto: GLORIA CURES.

COHASSET.

—Cohasset Lodge No. 192 I. O. O. F. conferred the third degree on one candidate Monday evening. This lodge was organized eight years ago and has now 81 members.

—Our itinerant visitors seem to appreciate the hospitable manner in which G. W. Tinkham, the alms house keeper, has treated them. Up to Monday night, there had been no legal marriage performed in town. Mr. Tinkham stated Monday night he thought the number cared for would surely reach one hundred prior to February 1. Soaps, cracker and cheese and a good warm fire is a great comfort for those who have been in the vicinity of Cohasset.

—Capt. Joseph Jason Jr. is overhauling the schooner, "Daylight." We learn that the captain intends sailing for the grand banks soon, after half a year.

—Capt. John Brooks tried his new ice boat, "The Fish Hawk" on the bridge river. The craft is said to sail well, somewhat better than the captain even expected.

—George Bates told us Tuesday that he well remembers the time when he was in a single-masted vessel in town. Andrew Wood of Weymouth built the first one seen in town for Capt. Aaron Pratt. The advent of such a wagon on the roads at that time, he said, was an event of more than ordinary interest.

—The large ledge on Mr. Furber's Shober street, in Weymouth, was removed by the town to improve the roads in the Weymouth house bought of L. N. Lincoln. Mr. Beale, the contractor for removing the ledge, has thus far with steam, drilled about sixty holes averaging 30 inches in depth. Later these holes are to be filled with iron and the ledge discharged. The sight is expected to be a grand one and will be witnessed by hundreds of people.

—Samuel Thayer, residing between King street and North Cohasset, has a setter dog that's not only a good dog, but a good swimmer, too. It is said to be a holiday for Cohasset such as he never before, or has since, witnessed.

TWO VALENTINES.

BY L. DAMON.

"And do you really love Harold Mortimer well enough to spend your life with him, Amy dear?" Laura Dalton looked searching into the beautiful face of her friend, as she asked the question and Amy turned her head to escape that deep-searing gaze. "Why, Laura," said Amy, "you know, I don't know if you would want to read my very soul. Hal has never asked me to spend my life with him, so I need not decide whether I love him or not, at least, not yet." "Well, dear, said Laura with just the least bit of a tremble in her voice, "I don't know if I have the right to tell you that which is secret, with profane hands, so we drop the veil."

It was with a light and buoyant step that Laura Dalton wended her way next evening, to the church where she intended to work, and she smelt the air as she went down at the little knot of violet-worn as a token to Varley Bradford that he might try to win the heart that was his already, though he dreamed it not. Amy and Hal were there looking very happy, and Amy's heart beat with a thrill as she met them. "There's a room for him too," whispered Amy, "but he did not come, and though Laura wof-dred why, she gave herself up to the sweet sadness of the hour, and her voice rose full and clear as ever in the hymn of praise.

It was with a light and buoyant step that Laura Dalton wended her way next evening, to the church where she intended to work, and she smelt the air as she went down at the little knot of violet-worn as a token to Varley Bradford that he might try to win the heart that was his already, though he dreamed it not. An immensely powerful combination is being formed to control all the railroads which are interested in the country from the Pennsylvania to the Atlantic.

This combination will represent over a billion dollars of capital was conceived in the fertile brain of J. Pierpont Morgan. It will limit the output of coal and raise the price about 50% a ton.

It is to be bought on a heathen land by no means remarkable for honesty, combinations to raise the prices of the necessities of life are summarily dealt with. The parties are naled by the ears to their own doors. We sometimes have our doubts if a little prompt despatch does not answer better in the end than an unlimited amount of Christian forbearance.

Concessions and Nominations.

The concessions and nomination laws as applied to towns acting under the modern census laws and Australian ballot system, are becoming quite complicated. As at present interpreted, the law says all concessions must first be submitted to the state and filed with the town clerk on or before a o'clock, m. the second Saturday preceding the election; should however that Saturday be a legal holiday, the nomination must be filed the day previous, which will bring it this year Friday, the 21st.

Nomination papers must be filed with the town clerk by one of the signers in person, or before 5 o'clock p. m. on the Monday preceding the election.

For those who are unable to withdraw but by request must be in writing and sworn to before a Justice of the Peace or Notary and filed with the town clerk on or before the Tuesday preceding the election.

The Bloody Tark.

The fearfulness of the news from Armenia increases daily and it is time that the Christian nations of the world should take prompt and decisive action.

Our government is responsible for the continuance of these terrible measures, but the United States, as one of the leading civilized powers of the world, cannot avoid responsibility. It is an urgent call for the people of Armenia to stand up in the cause of the Armenian people, to be made of brave soldiers to suppress the bloody Tark. A crusade is demanded now, not only by individuals but by nations and Uncle Sam would receive the united efforts of all who would send our experienced and battle-hardened, almost useless gunboats to fight the Tark.

The latest letter from Armenia is from Tadz, a village that has been practically wiped out. It had 1000 inhabitants, mostly Greeks, and was a thriving Congregationalist and all were butchered in the most horrid manner. We make the following extracts, which will stir the blood of every reader:

When the news first arrived, he thought it was the monastery. Bishop Sabag, the letter states, was engaged at his morning orisons when the attack was made, and he was called out by the invaders and asked if he would renounce his religion and become a Moslem. He refused.

He waited for three hours time to consider the proposition, which was given him. He spent the time in prayer and when summoned again before the mob he was stripped clothed in rags, having off his church garments in the meantime. He was asked for more time and was given another hour.

At the expiration of half an hour he was again summoned into the presence of the leaders, who told him if he would not renounce his religion, and that he would only be allowed to serve, and that he would not embrace Mohammedanism.

He was seized by the soldiers of the Sultan, who chopped off his right hand at the wrist. Again he was referred to the leaders, who told him to turn over his right hand, and he was asked to do so. It was of no avail, however, as his captors chopped off his left hand, first at the wrist and secondly at the arm at the elbow.

Life was again given him if he would not renounce his religion, and that he would only be allowed to serve, and that he would not embrace Mohammedanism.

WHAT DO YOU THINK OF GLORIA?

About 4147 years ago, in Canaan, Reuben went to the wheat fields and gathered mandrakes for his mother, Leah.

There is the same virtue in Gloria as then, giving vitality and strength. Gloria is composed of the best herbs, and many a rundown, played-out, lagged dyspeptic with a ruffled disposition, has been cured and made angelic with the vitality of a boy. Don't believe this till you try Gloria and find it to be true in your case. Motto: GLORIA CURES.

The house which is the new Pemberton school house is being gotten out on the wharf at Nantasket. When completed, and the new pier head is ready the more timber etc will be transported via water.

James J. Costello, town auditor, died at his home Friday of last week aged 55 years, of consumption. Funeral services were held at the residence of his mother, 20 Thwing street, Roxbury, last Sunday at 1 o'clock. Many friends of town attended the funeral, including a number of officials. Mr. Costello filled the office of auditor in a manner satisfactory to our townpeople and especially to our town officials. He was popular, courteous to strangers and was especially known in Braintree and Nantasket.

He developed a part of the time by Tigh & Burke, the grocers on Charles street, Boston. He was a thorough believer in the future prosperity of this town and his early death has caused sorrow to many.

The school children are lamenting over the fact that Washington's birthday, Patriot's Day (10th of April) and Memorial Day all occur on Saturday, which deprives them of just so many school holidays.

Wednesday, May 4, four traps arrived at this office from the State Fish Commission, the distance and direction to Nantasket's phosphate works at North Weymouth. "Well," replied a bystander, "it is right over there in that direction only a few miles, but I would advise you to turn back to Nantasket from Weymouth, as the Brandywine, then in Hampton Roads,

When his term expired he received an honorable discharge, but in his haste to come north, left his papers behind aboard the ship, a matter that he now regrets for it forever prevents him from obtaining nearly 1000 dollars really due him from the government.

While at Fort Verde he met Capt. Loring, a citizen of this town, who was then a young school teacher. Sarah Young, Capt. Loring's suggestion he accompanied him north, arriving in 1864. Soon after his arrival here he found employment with Thomas N. Smith, then proprietor of the stage line between here and Marshfield. In 1869 he married Laura Thompson of Conn. They were blessed with five children, all of whom are except one daughter residing in Boston.

Thomas since residing north has been frugal and has acquired considerable property on Pleasant street. His house is well furnished, but he longs and pines for someone to share it with him. When it was suggested that he again become a Benedictine, he agreed and showed that he had taken the initial step and hopes to consummate the contract soon.

The local lobstersmen are somewhat handicapped of late in consequence of the rough weather. A steam craft that has commenced operations off town is to some extent aggravating, but, as one remarked yesterday, we have to look on and bear it.

An event seldom held in Cohasset or elsewhere occurred at the Cove, last Sunday morning. McCormick, who had been held in custody a few months, was released. This officer observed and investigated with the good result. McCormick after being discovered made a desperate attempt to escape and in his efforts assaulted the officer with an axe. Entrance was effected to the building through a rear window. But little booty was secured owing to the fact that the thief had been a police officer.

The prisoner was arraigned in the Abington Court Monday, and held in heavy bonds for appearance at the next session of the Superior Court. It is said that McCormick has long been suspected of a thief but for want of proof he has never been arrested. He is married and has five children.

On Friday evening, March 9, a hearing for trial will be given at Loring's. The court and arrangements are: Mr. Alvin T. Dunn, Miss Ethel Bryant, Mrs. Samuel H. Shadling, Mrs. Alfred L. Lincoln, Mrs. Allen P. Soule, Mrs. Geo. W. Burr.

Newspaper Advertising has become the recognized medium for trade and commerce in every branch of business.—Agricultural Advertising.

In the West newspapers are considered of great value to their local communities and receive many public favors. It is generally conceded there that a good local newspaper does more for the benefit of a town than anything else, it does more for the community than anything else, it does more than the clergy; it aids and encourages every public and private enterprise, and is in fact a public benefactor. It is the greatest aid and stimulant to town growth. It feeds the public mind and educates the public eye to the up-sets. There is no town down there that does not receive much benefit direct and indirect from the local paper. All this, while generally admitted everywhere, is materially recognized, but the paper which the county commissioners set up, without authority or the power of the people and authority in distinction, is the only one that people give a striking proof of the need that exists for a more accurate information of our system of county government.

Union Literary Circle.

Last Friday evening the Union Literary Circle of Weymouth met at the residence of Mrs. R. L. Hunt. Quotations were from any author whose birthday anniversary came in February and naturally many of the more interesting extracts from the utterances of Abraham Lincoln.

Miss Hattie J. Gould sang an excellent solo on the "Conquest of Spain by the Moors," and sixteen questions were answered relating to that c. quest.

It is a general rule that the members listened to a very able and interesting paper given by Miss Lute of Braintree.

The subject was "The Danger of Criticism of the Supreme Court," and it was presented in a manner which gave evidence that the author, a young man, had been made up to the discussion of the subject, and had made up his mind to put his thoughts in consideration of the members of the audience.

It was suggested that the circle give a contribution to the Weymouth Library.

Our people are growing more and more in the habit of turning to the underlined druggists for the latest and best of every thing in the drug line. They sell Chamberlain's Remedy, famous for its cure of colds, cough and whooping cough.

In need of such a medicine, give this to your doctor and he will prescribe it.

As a democratic town we are so apathetic and have not the time to be politically supported, it is to be presumed that that country grows older it will gradually acquire the less liberal habits of the East, and the newspaper there will be given up to the same. The time will fail as it is now, for the editor must live upon his income whether he writes well or ill. As a country becomes more crowded and the competition for a living becomes greater, there is less willingness to grant favors to the less able. The time will come of the spirit of living "every tub stand on its own bottom." In some respects this is well and fosters independence but there are many of the generous, hospitable and helpful traits of the western character that the East would do well to acquire.

Does Any One Remember?

The Weymouth Gazette—it always was suppressed by us in founded in 1867, and so the volume number shows. But in the records of the town is found the following note of the town passed March 9, 1867, which says: "The Weymouth Gazette was suppressed to be in existence."

Voted—that a copy of the doings of this town meeting be published in the Weymouth Gazette and that the Town Clerk forward the same to the recorder.

What does the mean? Does anyone recall or possess any information.

Also in the records of 1862 appears an item "Paid C. G. Eastbrook, printing, $100, for the Weymouth Gazette." Eastbrook had a shop in Weymouth according to our understanding and the records of the Gazette. We have a complete file of the Gazette and Vol. I. No. 1 appeared in 1867 according to the date on the paper. What Gazette was published here in 1867?

The Town.

The town papers will be distributed Saturday and Sunday, and will include a copy of the Weymouth for the town meeting. Every voter should read the Weymouth and think upon the merits of each article, ever bearing in mind that the town must be very economical this year and keep the tax as low as possible. We must use our cloth according to its merit, and have it made like a city till we are a city. The great desideratum for the near future is a strong and healthy growth, bringing an influx of tax paying property, so we must get proper rates to tax as well as increase the appropriations, as high taxes effectively prevent this growth great care should be taken.

WEYMOUTH, THE HOBO'S PARADISE.

100 Tramps in Town Wednesday Evening.

For the second time this winter the tramps at the almshouse were filled to overflowing, and a number of the "hobos" were given night lodgings at the various locking in town.

Joe 3 in 3 O'Clock. Flanagan put up ten men and women, and a number of the "hobos" were given night lodgings at the various locking in town.

The cry need of the hour in Weymouth is for a close administration of the finances, for lower taxes, and a correct and up to date assessment.

Let us be very economical this year and without a considerable number of the things asked for. We have our regular departments to support and the appropriations for these will require large sums and make taxes high enough. Let us stop buying many new things, and have a more and better time before being taxed.

Gravel Cured

(Philadelphia, Penn., Item.)
A healthier, heartier, happier man than John N. Morris, of 18th street, Philadelphias, could not be found in a day's search. The fact that he is still alive is a constant wonder to his friends.

In the fall of 1880 he began to suffer in despicable miseries from stone in the bladder.
Consulting an eminent physician in Philadelphia, who advised that a surgical operation was necessary. So much did he dread the result, for if unsuccessful it most certainly, that put off the evil day as long as possible. While in this frame of mind, he heard of

DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY

Although disheartened, on July 1, 1880, by not finding a bottle of the elixir within a few days, he finally decided to dissolve and his form had finished the third bottle, the priest was removed. So successful it was in the Hunt school hall, this (Friday) afternoons.

—Tuesday evening at 8 P. M. Mrs.
Elijah E. Thompson gave the third of her
series of talks, taking for her subject
"Oliver Goldsmith." Like the previous lectures, that last was very pleasing to her audience and in the course in which she spoke, she rapidly drew to a close. Mrs.
Thompson was the guest every night, of Miss Frieda Cook of Front street.

—Monday morning was the coldest of the season, the thermometer registering 16° below zero. A number of our citizens had already been to bed, and those who had not had a good night's sleep.

—Mr. Neil feels that he owns a lasting depression in his health, and that within a few days he will be compelled to seek a doctor.

—A delegation from the local union attended the Norfolk County Women's Christian Temperance Union convention which was held at Dothan, Tuesday. Miss Little Clark was appointed one of a committee of three to entertain. The next meeting of the society will be held with the Weymouth union in May.

—Owen L. Greenhill, who did faithful ser-

A Quickly Prepared Dessert.

Another item of household household has been added to the list of the day-to-day, and the men of the day-to-day are concerned upon the vast trials that are being made toward convenience and housekeeping, and especially as regards the house-hold fare.

In the same way, the Marel-Soule Company of Syracuse, has come concerned to the front with their None Such Mince Meat, a material for desserts the premiere feature of which are its wholesome, richness of flavor, and the short time in which it can be prepared to the table.

The ingredients of this Mince Meat are prepared by an exact rule, and with the greatest care. In no kitchen in the land is there more scrupulous cleanliness. Choicest apples, and the selected meat are chosen and prepared by the same method. The meat is cut into small pieces, and the bones removed.

The preparation of this Mince Meat is a work of art, and the skill that would meet the approval of the most particular housewife.

The Marel-Soule Company have issued a charming booklet entitled "Mrs. Popkin's Thanksgiving," written by one of our most popular humorous writers, which they are sending free to all who send name and address.

MONTEBELLO, Jan. 1, 1890.

The Summer Number of the "Sketches for 1890," is now in preparation, and will, in many respects, be an improvement over any previous issues. The descriptive matter is to be arranged in somewhat of a gazetteer form, the text to be printed upon enlarged paper, and with many new illustrations.

The advertising is in charge of Mr.
Harry Bragg, of Montreal, so favorably known in business circles as a courteous and reliable advertising agent, who will call on each of our business men as may deserve his attention, and who is a strenuous advocate as a means of reaching prospective customers. He is personally located in the Board of Trade building, room 402, telephone No. 957, or may be addressed in care of this office.

Business houses desiring to advertise will please notify Mr. Bragg, as above.

evening at Clapp's hall, Weymouth.

—The teachers and pupils of the Hunt school extend a most cordial invitation to their friends to be present at their Washington Birthday exercises, which will be held in the Hunt school hall, this (Friday) afternoons.

—Tuesday evening at 8 P. M. Mrs.

Elijah E. Thompson gave the third of her
series of talks, taking for her subject
"Oliver Goldsmith."

—Like the previous lectures, that last was very pleasing to her audience.

—The Cemetery circle had an enthousiastic meeting yesterday afternoon with Mrs.
C. Harrington and are preparing the Fair of the present week (60 or over), which will be given a fine lead pencil. It is a matter of pride to every Weymouth citizen to have his name on the list of the exhibitors

TIGER IN THE DAIRY.

The King of the Jungle Disdains Still-Fed Beef.

Surprise of a Thirty-Bell When the Big Cat "Went" in Its Brightened Face—Locked Up After a Two Days' Owing.

There was considerable excitement at Mysore, India, recently. One of the maharajah's tigers got loose and was not recaptured for nearly 48 hours. The tiger had been loose for other wild animals to escape out of confinement seems a common event in Mysore. During the time of the late maharajahs one got out of his cage in the menagerie, and also during the time of the tiger, he got out all over the fort, a wild deer, in and out of people's houses, but, strange to say, on none of these occasions has anyone been injured.

The tiger in the present instance is one which is kept by his highness' dairy to keep away the "evil eye" from the cattle. He was netted for Lord Lansdowne to sit at when he excelled in visiting Mysore a few years ago, and was then given to the maharajah. It is a very large yard, with open shell round, in which the cattle are fed, the tiger's cage being close to one end and a fountain near the other. The tiger had been shot several p. m. and only trampled around the lower half of cattle and people at the time; but, fortunately, he had no desire whatever to taste stale-fed beef, or Hindoo either, although he passed within a few feet of the cows and the men, and after feasting himself all quiet, lay down by the fountain.

By nine o'clock a couple of elephants brought down the net and a cordon was run around the place, preventing the tiger from getting out of the cattle, when two rather amusing incidents occurred. A cow managed to get into the yard, and after skipping about for some time rushed into a part of the net which had fallen down, and was captured. The tiger, however, for some time struggled madly, trying to get loose. Everyone fully expected the cow would have been killed. Finally, however, a number of men went out and held the captured animal down and removed the net, whereupon this cow, when a splintered bolt got under a part of the net which had fallen down, against Double Taxation of shares.

It also unanimously adopted two petitions to the legislature of 1895, as follows:

To the Honorable State Board of Representatives, of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, in General Court assembled:

The undersigned, the Massachusetts State Board of Trade, do hereby respectfully represent that

The taxation of shares of corporations, which corporations have already been taxed, is double taxation.

This particular form of double taxation is unjust to the people of Massachusetts, who in the aggregate pay more taxes than the other states, in accordance with law common to all states, and by all states and peoples.

No citizen should be taxed a second time in this state, for property already taxed in Massachusetts.

Insuchas as experience has demonstrated that the taxation of shares of corporations have been heavier everywhere, and that particularly in our own state, only an estimated amount of the tax on shares of corporations is taxed, and that mainly to the people who can least afford to pay, such as trustees, guardians and others.

Therefore that it is the policy of the state to prohibit such laws.

We respectfully request that House Bill No. 130 may be enacted.

CHARLES E. ADAMS, President.

As per order of the Massachusetts State Board of Trade, Boston, Feb. 19, 1895.

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts:

Against Taxation of Municipal Bonds.

The undersigned, the Massachusetts State Board of Trade, respectfully represent that the taxation of municipal bonds, notes and other obligations issued by the state, cities and towns of the state, should be taxed at the same rate as other securities, and that you will take caref ul to see that the following statement, which they believe substantiates the position, will be taken:

"The particular form of double taxation is unjust to the people of Massachusetts, who in the aggregate pay more taxes than the other states, in accordance with law common to all states, and by all states and peoples."

No citizen should be taxed a second time in this state, for property already taxed in Massachusetts.
